

And the decision to teach a foreign language is an act of commitment, generosity and mediation.

It's a promise to educate – yes – and to equip. But also to awaken; to kindle a flame that you hope will never go out; to guide your pupils towards insights, ideas and revelations that they would never have arrived at without your dedication, patience and skill.

John le Carré 12.6.2017

